

PROVIDENCE DISTRICT COUNCIL NEWSLETTER

FEBRUARY 2007

Providence District has an estimated population of 114,052 residents, and encompasses approximately 22 square miles. Providence District covers a diverse geographic area. In general it follows the Beltway north to Route 287 and south to below Route 50-with parts as far south as Little River Turnpike; I-66 West to around the Lee Highway intersection; and Route 50 east to around Falls Church. For a map of the Supervisor districts, visit:

<http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/maps/images/maps/handouts/pdf/supervisor.pdf> There are about 225 civic and homeowner associations in Providence District.

The Providence District Council (PDC) is a non-partisan civic organization that provides a forum for associations to express their views on major issues of common concern. In the recent past, the Council has had a number of resolutions addressing land use, the County budget, bond referenda, affordable housing, transportation, zoning violations and cut thru traffic. Council meetings are usually held on the third Tuesday of the month. Meetings are not held in July and August.

PDC publishes this Newsletter on a monthly basis in both hard copy and electronic format. The newsletter's purpose is to provide information on important issues in Providence District and the County that may not be readily available elsewhere. Suggestions are always welcome.

When: Tuesday, February 20, 2007, 7:30 PM

Where: Dunn Loring Administration Building, Room 108 (The Building is on the NW Corner of Gallows & Idylwood Roads)

From 7:30 to about 8:15, Kristen Michael and Sheila Houston of the Fairfax County Public Schools staff will brief the audience on the proposed school board budget. As time permits, there will be discussion of a possible PDC school budget resolution in March.

The meeting will conclude with updates on a resolution being weighed by McLean Citizens Association concerning the cost-effectiveness of the rail-to-Dulles proposal. There will be discussion of a possible resolution to be considered in March.

Merrifield Town Center Presentation

On Monday, February 26th, 7:30p at the Dunn Loring Center the Merrifield Mixed Use/Town Center developer will give a presentation of their revised development plan of 80+ acres. This area includes the Merrifield theaters, south of Lee Highway and west to Eskridge Rd. The Planning Commission public hearing for this application is scheduled for April 25, 2007.

Any interested person is welcome to attend. Please tell your neighbors and join us in giving input on this plan, which will significantly alter the character of Merrifield.

A Message from the PDC Chair Charlie Hall

In recent years, there has been growing debate on urban-style development, and its long-term impact on the suburban neighborhoods in which many of us live. With major new development planned in Merrifield, Vienna/MetroWest, and now Tysons Corner; Providence District has been the Ground Zero of that debate.

In February and March, the Providence District Council will discuss two issues that bear directly on Providence's future. This discussion will be helped by the broadest possible participation of our member organizations.

At its March meeting, PDC will vote on whether to support a document first presented at a town hall meeting last October, the "Citizens' Agenda for Responsible Growth."

Since October, I have visited with numerous homeowners associations and civic leaders to discuss the draft 12-point plan, which can be accessed at www.fairfaxcitizensagenda.org.

I've found that the Agenda's four central principles receive almost overwhelming support. Indeed, in every HOA I've visited, they are considered mainstream and common sense.

What are those core ideas?

- 1) County leaders must identify the impact of new development before deciding to approve it, and then use all legal powers available to minimize public impacts.
- 2) Fairfax County must more rigorously enforce promises made by developers, and impose serious penalties when they are not kept.
- 3) Improve communication between the county government and the public, so that communities can have more constructive influence on development decisions.
- 4) Create strategies to improve public transit, reduce overcrowded conditions in the schools and more effectively use our parklands.

The strategies devised to improve public transit specifically questioned whether the $4 billion allotted to build a rail line to Dulles was the best public transit investment. A presentation showed how the same money could create a true countywide transit network.

The rail investment question has resonated and expanded. The McLean Citizens Association is now considering a resolution to withdraw its support for the rail line, based on questions of cost and effectiveness. On Feb. 13, we will set aside time to brief PDC members on MCA's continued research into this issue, with an eye to crafting a PDC resolution for our March meeting.

Providence will suffer heavily if proposed urban development doesn't come with successful strategies to invest in transportation, roads, schools and parks. These discussions are an important way to keep our district's future on a healthy course. Please join PDC and add your voice to these issues.

Finally, we want to heartily congratulate Sally Ormsby, longtime PDC representative from Mantua. Sally was recently named Citizen of the Year by the Fairfax County Federation of Citizens Association. In addition to serving as an elected member of the Soil and Water Conservation Board, Sally is a vigorous advocate of the parks and she has served PDC as our Resolutions Committee chair.

Draft PDC Minutes January 16, 2007

Representing the nominating committee, Mike Cavin presented the PDC slate of officers: Charlie Hall (Chair), Rebecca Cate (Vice Chair), Marian Pflaumer (Treasurer), Denise Rodgers (Secretary). There were no nominations from the floor. A motion was made and passed to elect the slate of officers as presented.

Marnie Fitzgerald, County Division of Public Affairs, began the PDC discussion on Homelessness in Fairfax. Ms. Fitzgerald is on the Planning Committee to end Homelessness in Fairfax. She began with an overview of facts and figures for the county from the latest point in time survey from January of 2006: Over 2000 homeless people; 934 single persons; 1143 families (55% of the homeless population). For single persons in Fairfax, 87% have a disability such as mental illness or substance abuse, which may be factors contributing to their homelessness. For Families in Fairfax, 60% have an income below the poverty line and 35% are near the poverty line. To address the issue of homelessness, the county operates shelters for singles and families; operates hypothermia centers and funds affordable housing. In addition, planning efforts are under way with the goal of preventing and ending homelessness in the county in 10 years. To do this, the county has identified the causes (disabilities and poverty) and has identified how to achieve the goals. An Implementation Plan is now being prepared.

Michelle Milgrim from the Health Department addressed health services provided by the county for the homeless. Traditional services include access to a nurse practitioner at a shelter. In addition, a pilot program for the medically fragile (for example persons with heart and diabetic problems or injuries) has been implemented at the Embrey center in Reston. This program is designed to provide medical respite care at the shelter in conjunction with a medical facility such as an assisted living facility. There are also health services teams that are designed to provide care to unsheltered homeless.

Marty Birnbaum, Director of the Embrey Center spoke about shelter operations. The Embrey center is run by Reston Interfaith (a non-profit organization) in partnership with the Fairfax-Falls Church Community Services Board. Ms. Birnbaum noted that homelessness is a national problem with several contributing factors including lack of affordable housing, the movement away from mental institutions and managed care. Many homeless people do not like to stay in shelters because they have no control or privacy. The Embrey Center provides family and single shelter as well as drop in services. They also provide overflow for hypothermia centers. It costs 1.2 million to operate, 85% comes from the county and about 5% from the state. She also noted that a bill is coming before the General Assembly on Thursday (Jan. 18) for assisted outpatient services. When asked if there have been any problems with the neighbors or community in the vicinity of the shelter, she said that there haven't really been any issues with the surrounding community.

A question and answer period followed Ms. Birnbaum's presentation. Questions included: Is there a 30 day waiting list for single person's shelters? How are the needs of disabled/substance abuse homeless people addressed? How are cases managed? Discussion about how realistic it is that the 10 year goal to end homelessness will be met included information on regional efforts and lack of resources for the mentally ill. It was noted that it would be more cost effective to meet the goal than to continue to manage homelessness.

We thank all our presenters for their insights and efforts in confronting this challenge in Fairfax.
